 Catherine Amos.....June 5

What then is the “rule of life” for a Christian? Where can he find the power to live a holy life? Conformity to the image of Christ, who is the highest measure of holiness, is God’s way to a godly life. When “He that saith he abideth in Him, ought himself to walk even as He walked.” 1 John 2:6

He is our heart’s desire and our love is upon Him, we will find our lives and character being daily transformed into His likeness. This is not a one-time crisis event, but a daily discipline, this is not holiness attained or perfectionism sought after; on the contrary, it is a humble heart and mind looking away from self unto Christ. W. E. Vine, Bible commentator and respected authority on the Greek New Testament, may have described the believer’s rule of life best when he wrote: “ ‘Sanctify in your hearts Christ as Lord.’ (1 Peter 3:15). This is not an attainment to be reached by the Christian of mature experience; it is the daily, joyous rule of life for every believer.”
